Acadians and Quebecers have shared roots, many of which can be traced in the collection held by Bibliothèque et Archives nationales du Québec (BAnQ). The first French settlers in North America congregated along the St. Lawrence valley and in the Bay of Fundy, on land occupied by various Aboriginal peoples. The exhibition presents a range of period maps that show the geographic locations of Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal settlements.

The exhibition "Aux origines de l'Acadie" will be open every day from 3 p.m.

An immersive experience with Télé-Québec

Come and enjoy an immersive experience, using a virtual reality headset to discover "Panoramique : 360° de poésie".
